Cumbria's Military Museum

The Museum, based in Carlisle Castle, covers the history of Cumbria's County Infantry Regiment The Border Regiment and its predecessors, the 34th (Cumberland) and 55th (Westmoreland) Regiments from 1702 to 1959, its successors The King's Own Royal Border Regiment from 1959 to 2006 and The Duke of Lancaster's Regiment 2006 to the present day, together with Volunteer, Militia, Territorial, Home Guard, Cadet and other military units from the County.

Our work in preserving part of Britain's Military Heritage is only possible by the generous support of many members of the public. The Museum is both Independent and a Charitable Trust and through GIFT AID legislation, we can benefit even more from your donation - by re-claiming tax that you have already paid. Please use this form to make your Gift Aid Donation to Cumbria's Military Museum.

Please complete and return this form with your debit/credit card details, or cheque - made payable to Cumbria's Military Museum
