

9 Mar 2010 - St David's celebration in Bryn, Port Talbot

A traditional celebration of St David was organised on the above date and included an historical enactment by the School Children, traditional readings, some local choir singers and displays of local history.

This event was very well attended both by the current residents of Bryn and many of the old residents who are now living else where but had returned to the village for the evening to meet old friends and relive memories of their younger days. The evening started with display boards about the history of Bryn.

The BRAG Chairman, Graham, shows a guest some of the history on Bryn that has been gathered from the Bryn villagers.

After spending time studying the boards and exchanging stories about their own memories, while tucking into traditional Welsh food and refreshments. The evening then moved on to Welsh themed entertainment about the heritage of Bryn.

Jan, a BRAG committee member and the School head, proudly watched the village school children act out the history of Bryn from when it was just an agricultural village to the present day. Every one present commented on how well they portrayed the story.

Jan also Joined Alyn Rees in delivery poems with a touch of humour that had the audience expressing their approval with loud outbreaks of laughter.
