SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1918. TOPICS OF THE WEEK.

The unanimity with which the City Council has elected Mr. Bates for the ensuing year is a testimony of the esteem in which he is held and an appreciation of his valuable public services.

Mr. Bates is Chairman of the Education Committee, the work of which committee body he naturally takes the deepest interest.

The constitution of the Bishopric of Coventry and the deeply interesting address through the Bishop of Worcester imparted to the day's assembly at Birmingham.

It is quite certain that the coal problem is one of those which will be regarded seriously by the Government.

The Mayor's attention to the coal shortage, and in letters that he has appeared in your correspondence columns.

The capital attendance at Highfield Road and the decisive victory gained by Coventry F.C. last Saturday evening.

Our city has merited praise for its enterprise in various ways, and that it will continue to do so in the not distant future.

There can be no question that the constant preparation of meals does become a tedious business with many housewives.

While on this food question there is another aspect which one might refer to. It cannot be denied that in the past any real need has existed for a wider knowledge regarding cookery.

Warwickshire, like the rest of the country, continues to participate in the general tendency towards the lightening up of these duties.
