

ment seven days' imprisonment.

KEEPING A DISORDERLY HOUSE.—Annie [REDACTED] was summoned on the information of Inspector Bradbury for keeping a disorderly house, and allowing and encouraging drunkenness therein. The officer stated that on Tuesday morning, the 6th inst., about two o'clock, he saw two men come out of the defendant's house in Holly street. He went in with them and found four men and three prostitutes, all of whom were drunk. The defendant herself was also drunk, and conducting herself in a very indecent manner.—The Bench considered the charge substantiated and imposed the full penalty of 10s. and costs, or 14 days' imprisonment in default.

(Before H. WILKINSON and G. WOLSTENHOLM, Esqrs.)

PERMITTING DRUNKENNESS.—Robert Marsden, landlord of the Old Crown Inn, Duke street, Park, was fined 10s. and costs for permitting drunkenness in his house, on Saturday, the 3rd inst. Two men were found fighting in a state of intoxication by Police-constable Jordan.