Colonel Stewart has had further encounters with the Dervishes in the neighbourhood of Kassala, and a part of their forces defeated, but was unable to dislodge the enemy from the Colonel reported these facts to the Khedive, and intimated that he would not be able to resume the attack on the following morning. The General would not sanction it, and the evacuation of Kassala by the Italians

CASUALTIES DRIVEN BACK.

The principal news from Bolivaya is that the Duke of Gifford, one of the directors of the Pacific Company, and general manager of the Pacific Railway Company, has been made a prominent part in the military movements without the turbulent Matabele, has been added to his other offices. A relief convoy has left Bolivaya. Later accounts state that the rising is proceeding at the disturbed districts. The natives have been driven back, with the loss of three men on the British side.

THE SNOWDON DISASTER.

The cause of the disaster on the Snowdon Railway is still remaining a mystery. The manager in the course of a statement made yesterday to the effect that the driver of the engine had been imprisoned at Dinas Mawddwy for a considerable time. He was arrested as a common felon. An inquiry into the statement is supplied by the Chief Constable of the district that the detention in the above institution will be quashed at the next Assizes, and leaving his condition, have given notice that the bed on which he is lying will shortly be required. The man himself has stated that he is well aware of the fate in store for him; but, if possible, he means to cheat the law. The funeral of Mr. John Goad took place at the Arnhall Cemetery, West Ham, amid many expressions of sorrow on the part of the Jewish population resident in Whitechapel and the immediate vicinity. Two private carriages and a number of cabs brought up the rear of the procession, these being filled by the workpeople of the deceased. The hearse was headed on each side by the pall-bearers and several officials of the Jewish Synagogue and members of the Jewish Board of Guardians. The coffin, which was of polished elm with brass fittings, and covered with many wreaths and floral inscriptions, bore the following inscription:—"In loving memory of John Goodman Levi, aged 75 years. Died April 4, 1896." Dr. Adler read the service.

DISTRESS IN ARMENIA.

Letters from Constantinople show that in addition to the persecution of Christians in Armenia by Kurds with remorseless activity, another misery has been perpetrated at Diarbekir, treated as a common felon. An indictment to this statement is supplied by the report that all the United Soldiers' Coast of Malta will shortly assemble in Islanderum. Despatches from the Catholic state that terrible distress prevails, people are terrified because of the Turkish troops. The friends of Lord Salisbury, continuously, be in doubt to hear that Sir P. Currie, the representative of the British Government, "continues his representations to the Porte."

THE TURKS THINK OF THE QUEEN.

The following significant incident is described by the Smyrna Enghish witness:—"During the Arabah a dog was mounted on a donkey through the streets, the people while beating the donkey. There goes the Queen of England." There goes Lord Salisbury!

After we had gone through, the company was performed with six dogs on the Queen's Birthday, in honour of Victoria."

EXCITING SCENE ON THE CLYDE.

OVER TWENTY MEN IMMERSED.

At six o'clock on Tuesday evening, as the workmen, some hundreds in number, employed by Messrs. Alexander Stephen and Son, Linthouse, Govan, near Glasgow, were leaving their work, a crowd was waiting for the landing stage which the ferryboat starts from to convey the men across the Clyde. Over twenty men and boys were crossing the gangway to the landing stage when it collapsed, and all were thrown into the water. There was a most exciting character created. There were no appliances for the work of rescue at hand, but fellow workmen dived under the water and assisted their companions to the landing stage and to the shore. In all twenty men and boys were got out. Four were unconscious, and were at once treated by the ambulance attendance Corps. As there was a great crowd at the landing stage when it collapsed, and all were thrown into the water, there is some uncertainty regarding the number rescued
