

Wildlife Recording Workshop in the Brecks

Dragonflies of the Brecks

On: 26th September 2015
starting at 10am

At: East Wretham Village Hall
& Thompson Common

With: Adrian Parr
(Suffolk Dragonfly Recorder)

Booking essential.

More information and booking:

nbis@norfolk.gov.uk | 01603 638027

Picture © Nick Ford

Free!

Part of
"Breaking New Ground
Landscape Partnership Scheme" supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund

www.breakingnewground.org.uk
@TheBrecksBNG

Sign up for a free workshop to give you the skills to record the distinctive wildlife of the Brecks.

The workshop will involve a morning classroom session on how to identify and record dragonflies and damselflies, followed by an opportunity to put your new skills into practice at Thompson Common.

Our “Wildlife Recorders of Tomorrow” project is part of the “Breaking New Ground” Landscape Partnership Scheme. We need new volunteers to help with wildlife monitoring in this unique landscape on a regular basis.

- Opportunities for groups and individuals;
- All skill levels from expert to novice welcome—training will be provided;
- All you need is enthusiasm for wildlife, conservation and Breckland’s outdoors.

NBIS (Norfolk Biodiversity Information Service) is Norfolk’s Local Environmental Records Centre. We hold information on species, geodiversity, habitats and protected sites in Norfolk.

www.nbis.org.uk | nbis@norfolk.gov.uk
01603 638027