Oakhanger sets the scene

MEMBERS of Alton Art Society spent a busy weekend painting at Oakhanger, under the guidance of John Butterworth.

John Butterworth said: "The society's paintings are bright and expressive, reflecting great enthusiasm."

This was their last event before the 57th annual art exhibition at the Assembly Rooms, from Tuesday to Saturday October 8th.

Paintings, drawings and sculpture will be on show, and many will be for sale. In addition, there will be the usual display of works by local children.

RESULTS SHOW THEIR ARTISTIC ENTHUSIASM

Members of Alton Art Society spent a busy weekend at Oakhanger painting under the expert eye of John Butterworth, one of Hampshire's leading art tutors.

Despite dullish weather, the results were impressive. Said Mr. Butterworth: "The thing I like about this Society is its zest for life. The paintings are bright and expressive, reflecting great enthusiasm."

This was the Society's last event before its 57th annual Art Exhibition at the Assembly Rooms, Alton next week.

On show will be paintings, drawings and sculpture, many of the pieces on sale at attractive prices. In addition there will be a display of works by local children.
