

Historic gateway in a league of its own

Gateway to recreation

For:

• Four national recreation routes pass through this area: the Trans Pennine Trail, the Pennine Cycleway, the Pennine Bridleway, and the Pennine Way

• Much of the moorland is open access land, over which people have the right to roam. Please take care to observe local signing

• The Longdendale Trail from Hadfield to the Woodhead Tunnel is accessible to families and users with disabilities

• Please help us keep the Longdendale Valley special by following the Countryside Code

Did you know? The Anglo-Saxon towns of Hetfield and Padefeld, now Hadfield and Padfield, date back to about 650AD.

Did you know? 1957, The Flying Scotsman made an unscheduled 30 secs stop in Hadfield to drop off local soldier Dennis Chappell.

We hope that you, your friends and families will enjoy the trail for generations to come.

The Hadfield and Padfield Heritage Trail was officially opened in 2012 following a project by a group of local residents to celebrate the area's rich heritage. The trail, funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and other local contributions, provides an opportunity for everyone who lives in or visits the area to enjoy its historical and environmental diversity.

Where you are now standing is a gateway to remarkable feats of engineering, historic buildings, and thriving woodland. Look at the map below to see how you can walk, cycle or horse-ride along the beautiful Longdendale Valley.
