Recycling Services

What it can provide

We have been helping older people to recycle for 20 years

Computers, printers and cables can be recycled and we are able to donate them to individuals or charitable organisations.

Each and every single day, people throw away tons of items that can easily be recycled. For instance, you can recycle paper, plastic, glass and aluminium items.

We can sell donated items, except electrical goods.

Enquiries should be made to the Charity Shop in Okehampton, as overleaf.

What you can expect

How we can help you

Most of us have items at home that we don't use or need. Give them to us and we'll turn your donations into money that will go to help vulnerable older people.

We may also be able to assist those without transport with the removal of items that need to go to the Recycling Centre in Okehampton but not furniture or other heavy items.

We are licensed by Devon County Council to dispose of unwanted or unusable household good.

Our Goals

Donated Goods

We are able to sell donated goods through our charity shop in Okehampton. We are unable to accept larger items of furniture, carpets and electrical goods.

Recycling is an excellent way of saving energy and conserving the environment. Did you know that up to 60% of the rubbish that ends up in dustbins could be recycled?

Computer recycling

If you donate a computer or laptop to us because you have bought a newer model we will upgrade it where possible donate it to someone who cannot afford a new one. We can sometimes build one computer out of two or more - we are licensed to recycle the old parts.
