INTRODUCTION

Use 'Your Guide to Adult & Family Learning for Three Rivers' to help you to find local organisations that provide learning activities, support and FREE learning opportunities.

See the A-Z of Local Learning Opportunities for a wide range of organisations that offer courses and classes. Although not all are free, many offer free Tasters during the learning festivals and throughout the year.

- If you want help with Learning English or improving your reading, writing or numbers, please see pages 3, 7 & 9.
- Please help or encourage someone you know to sign up.

Adult Learners' Week now held each May through to June; it incorporates Learning at Work Day, with FREE Taster Sessions offered by local learning providers.

The Family Learning Festival held each October provides family and intergenerational learning opportunities.

- Our family learning definition is very flexible; including friends as well as family, reflecting the range of support relationships that individuals rely on, and not necessarily involving more than one generation.
- Where children attend they must be of the age specified and adults must stay for whole session.

Three Rivers Learning Partnership with its Partners offers you FREE Tasters of Learning to celebrate the Learning Festivals providing a great opportunity to try something new.

- Most Tasters need to be booked but some are just turn up.
- We hope you get along to some Tasters but if you miss something of interest, do contact the provider, there's probably something similar on offer - just not necessarily free.
- We hope that you enjoy learning in Three Rivers.

What about costs? In Three Rivers there are many free learning opportunities but where there are charges there may be discounts, so please ask.

Are you eligible for free tuition to help you get new qualifications?

If you don't already have GCSEs, A levels or equivalent qualifications, you may be able to study for them without having to pay any tuition fees. For learners starting their course in academic year 2013/14 the Government may meet the tuition costs for:

- a course which leads to your first full Level 2 qualification if you're under 24
- a course which leads to your first full Level 3 qualification if you're under 25

Getting a Level 2 qualification can help you develop skills suitable for a range of jobs - and a Level 3 qualification could get you into university or higher education.

A full Level 2 is equivalent to five or more GCSEs at grades A* to C, and a full Level 3 to two A levels. But you're not limited to just GCSEs and A levels. You could, for example, choose to do an NVQ or BTEC qualification that fits in with your career plans.

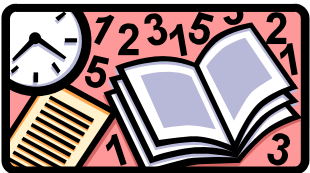

To receive free tuition you must meet criteria as set out by both Government and course provider.

- If you're between 14 & 25, without a job and not currently in education, The Prince's Trust may be able to help you overcome your barriers with a small cash grant. Get in touch: www.princes-trust.org.uk or ☎ Freephone: 0800 842 842

LEARNING FESTIVALS:

WORK EXPERIENCE WEEK: MONDAY 14 TO SATURDAY 19 OCTOBER 2013

With more programmes than ever requiring work experience the need for more employers to offer good quality work experience is growing all the time. To raise the profile of work experience among employers and to help providers gain new employers prepared to offer good quality work experience, Fair Train, the GTA for the Third Sector, is organising the first, annual Work Experience Week.

There are many ways for you to get involved including offering new work experience places and publicising the success of young people who have undertaken work experience with you. A dedicated web site has been established to give your ideas and to record your activities in Work Experience Week. The more publicity that can be generated the more opportunities there will be for young people and the providers who help them.

The Hertfordshire Chamber of Commerce is the major work experience provider for Hertfordshire and if you can offer work experience places in this academic year please email a confirmation to:

education@hertschamber.com so they can note your possible support.

Please also visit the national website: www.giveyouthachance.com or contact Fair Train at: www.fairtrain.org

What's Next?
Saturday 14 -
Friday 20 June

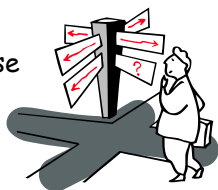

May 2014 will see the start of the festival of learning - for adults, families and communities - and this will culminate in a week of activities during 14 - 20 June. It will encompass activities such as Learning at Work Day, VQ Day (a national celebration of vocational qualifications), and Volunteers' Week.

To find out more about Adult Learners' Week visit www.alw.org.uk
