

Annual Camping Holiday

Woodlarks is a camping site near Farnham in Surrey. For a considerable number of years, NASCH has arranged a successful week's holiday there for members of its affiliated clubs.

Tents, mattresses and a limited number of beds are provided. For those who are unable to sleep under canvas, there is a brick built dormitory. The toilet and washing facilities are extremely good; there are baths, showers, and a laundry room. There is a dining room which we use as a lounge in the evenings. The heated outdoor swimming pool can be used every day and several outings are arranged during the week.

Obviously there are tasks that have to be carried out every day to keep the camp running smoothly. These jobs are supervised by NASCH helpers who are all volunteers and also pay the Camp Fee.

Accommodation is limited to approximately 80 people and initially we offer, on a first come, first served basis 5 places to each club - which should include at least one able bodied helper who knows the members. If all the places are not taken up after the first allocation, any remaining places will be offered to clubs who wish to send more members to camp.

Details are sent to all clubs at the beginning of the year but if you require any information in the meantime, please contact the NASCH Hon. Social Secretary.
