The Secretary Writes

Hi everyone it's me again,

I am writing this on Easter Monday, the sun is shining, the Spring breezes are whistling around the eaves and it is a 'good to be alive' day.

We went cockle picking on Good Friday, or rather the men did, as we had family staying and the little granddaughter is only two and a half. We said we would follow on later. I had an SOS from the mud flats 'bring warm jumpers, coats wind-proof jackets, anything to keep out the bitter wind blowing up the Helford estuary, so we did. I had a suitcase and packed them all into that, plus it had wheels so could be towed along. Someone wanted to know if I was moving in. They have just got to be joking.

For our annual Show 2013, we are presenting, with plants for sale, five Cornish cultivars, Falmouth, Sennen Cove, Mounts Bay, Helston Flora and Lands End which will tie in with the Helen Glover. These are all hybridised by Ernie Negus our local enthusiast and whilst some of them have been around for a while, we thought it would be a good promotional gimmick. Flyers for Mounts Bay were available at the Penzance Spring Flower Show (courtesy of Kit Lindsay on her table), along with Sennen Cove (as I have an orchid friend who lives down there) and a flyer for Falmouth went to their Spring Flower Show also. Hopefully, it will encourage a few more people through the door on Show day.

Sunday 7th April, sees the West Cornwall Orchid Society Spring Festival at Blaythornes in Camborne. Kit is very helpful to our Society and so hopefully some of you will reciprocate and visit there also.

Nothing much is moving in the garden or in the greenhouse. It has been so cold. I re-read last years' newsletter and we were sweltering in hot temps and wondering about hose pipe bans. What a difference a year makes. !!

Check your Society Plant regularly (and others) and once the roots start encircling the bottom of the pot, it should be potted up into the next size. Be careful not to waterlog and only trickle a little drop into the top of the compost. The terrain in their native home in the high Andes is free-draining so standing in water for them is the death-knoll.

Just a note: We have Peter Holloway, President of the British Fuchsia Society judging this year so it would be great if we can put on an extra special show for him and the preparations should start now. See Alan or any regular Showmen for any suitable plants or good advice. We are still awaiting our order from Percivals. It has been so cold on the East Coast they are having real problems. Just so glad we live the far South West we have been relatively blessed with the weather.

Happy growing,

Carol

Editorial

What a contrast to my editorial last April, when I was delighted say what lovely weather we had enjoyed at the end of March. However I did also say that it seemed we were in for a cold spell at the beginning of April, so fingers crossed, perhaps we are in for a surprise warmer spell, stranger things have happened.

Mary and I will be away for the whole of May, but we hope to have a newsletter prepared before we go, so if any one has any contributions (I wish) for me I will be very grateful if you can send them in early.

In spite of, or perhaps because of the very cold weather, we have been enduring, we have had a great many birds visiting the garden and the sunflower hearts disappear at an alarming rate. We have had to go out and remove the ice from the bird bath on several occasions and the camellias, which have been flowering since Christmas, are looking very brown. My magnolia has many buds on it but sadly they are not looking too healthy but we will see. when, or if, they open. On the bright side, the daffodils and primroses are a blaze of colour and the microphylla fuchsia plants, in the garden, have bloomed steadily throughout the winter.

Talking about Fuchsia plants, I was very disappointed with the Society Plants, I think that they were not grown on sufficiently before they were accepted for distribution. As far as the ones Mary and I had, mine is just about showing signs of growth but Mary's, a very small specimen to begin with looks as though the diagnosis will be terminal! What was the condition of your Society Plant and are you experiencing any problems? I would be very grateful for any comments for the letters page of the May newsletter, you may remain anonymous if you so wish.

I hope that everyone had a Happy Easter, and that we can look forward to some warmer weather soon.

Michael

The Cover Picture This Month is Thalia.

Turner 1855 Triphylla type

Tube deep flame red, long and very slender. Sepals flame red, very small and pointed. Corolla orange - scarlet, small, compact. Foliage dark olive green with magenta veins and ribs. Growth vigorous, upright and very free-flowering in terminal racemes. Requires pinching early to form a good shape. Bush.

Jobs for April

Early April

With young tender growth happening everywhere in the greenhouse, now is the time to apply the first coat of shading. It is perhaps the last opportunity to plant up baskets, for which you should use plants from 3.5" (9 cm) pots and remember using only one variety produces the best results.

Potting on should be in full swing. As soon as roots are girdling the root ball or popping out of the bottom of the pot, move plants into the next size pot. Space out plants on the staging ensuring that plants don't overlap. Continue to feed early potted fuchsias with a weak nitrogenous feed (i.e. 3-1-1 ratio).

Mid April

Concentration is now upon potting off and potting on, always using clean pots and fresh compost. You can be thinking of border hardy Fuchsias as soon as new growth appears at the base of the plant, prune back hard to soil level. A watchful eye is now necessary for pests, greenflies are first to appear, or over-wintered whiteflies. Early destruction now will save serious infestations later.

Digging a Hole. - Thirty-two days.

What am I? - The letter L.

Envelopes. - Martin should receive the red envelope containing the green card, and Martheset the blue envelope which contains the yellow card.

Mark should get the yellow envelope, which contains the blue card, and Martheset the blue envelope which contains the red card.

PUZZLE PAGE

I bought four cards with matching coloured envelopes to avoid a muddle. But I wish I'd checked before sealing the envelopes. I feel quite sure that: either the red envelope does not contain a red card, or the yellow envelope does not contain a blue card. Either the green envelope does not contain the yellow card, or the blue envelope does not contain the blue card. Either Matthew should get the green card, or Mark should get the yellow envelope. Either Michael should get the blue envelope, or Martin should get the yellow card. Either the green envelope does not contain the blue card, or Martin should not get the red envelope. How should I address them?

What Am I?

Laetitia has a large one And so has Cousin Luce; Eliza has a little one, But big enough for use.

Each child has a little one Enclosed within a clout; In fact all females have one -No girls are born without.

Hermaphrodites have none;
Mermaids are minus too;
Nell Gwyn possessed a double share,
If all we read is true.

Lasciviousness there has its source;
Harlots its use apply
Without it lust has never been
And even love would die.

'Tis known to all in nuptial bliss In carnal pleasure found, Without it love becomes extinct -The word is but a sound.

Now tell me what my object is, But pause before you guess it; If you be mother, mate or man, I swear you don't possess it.

This one to complete the 'whole' page!

If eight men can dig sixteen holes in thirty-two days, how long will it take four men to dig eight holes of the same size?

No need to wait for next month's Newsletter. Answers can be found on foot of Page 6
