Structure, governance and management

Type of governing document

The governing body of the United Reformed Church is General Assembly. The United Reformed Church Acts 1972, 1981 and 2000 gives the authority under which General Assembly acts. These Acts of Parliament together with the Basis, Structure and Rules of Procedure of the United Reformed Church (as contained in sections A-C of the Manual of the United Reformed Church) contain the foundation documents of the church. The Title Deeds for the Trust known as the United Reformed Church Annan (formerly Congregational Church Annan) were constituted under Feu Charter and recorded with the General Register of Sasines, County of Dumfries on 5th July 1902.

Trustee recruitment and appointment

Those responsible for the general control and management of the administration of the charity in relation to United Reformed Churches are the Elders of the church and the Minister. The congregation call the Minister, who is an ordained Minister of Word & Sacrament in The United Reformed Church; the Elders are elected by the church meeting and ordained as Elders of the United Reformed Church

Objectives and activities

Charitable purposes

To further the religious and charitable work of the church within the local community and beyond.
The charity's restrictions and organisational structure can be found in the Manual of the United Reformed Church (Sections B and D).

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

The church has a programme of Worship & Non-Worship events. Our worship services are at present held at 11.00am each Sunday. During 2022 the Elders have continued to review how they might restructure the church for its mission in the next decade. We are committed to exploring the faith as faith for the 21st Century. We take exploring the faith to be a journey in which we can engage & affirm the struggle to live in unity with a variety of views & insights about God. We are a caring Christian Community looking to care for each other & in the community. We endeavour to make our building available for the community & as such have within the last few years refurbished the ground floor of the church & the Hall kitchen so that our premises can best be utilised to suit the requirements of today's society.

APPENDIX 1

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the financial period

As part of the church's 'outreach' to the world church the congregation give regularly & generously to Christian Aid through the United Reformed Church Commitment for Life Project in Bangladesh (£450) and to other appeals e. g. Ukrainian Refugees Appeal (£372) Scottish Bible Society (£50) & Mercy Ships (£100)

The church is nationally recognised as a 'Fairtrade' church.

Throughout the year our church premises has been used by both church, local organisations & schools thus allowing us to 'outreach' further into the local community. Organisations such as 1st Annan Company Girls' Brigade, Knit & Natter Group and the Floral Art Club are all organisations attached to the church and the church is the recognised parent body.

We provide accommodation on a weekly basis to

The Rainbow Tribe ecumenical youth singing group & Spectrum Ceilidh Band and the 7th Annan Brownies & Guides.

We have also provided accommodation to Early Learning Scotland, Annan Town Band and Hecklegirth Primary School at various times during the past year.

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

As of June 2016, all the church funds are held solely in our General Account. Trustee's guidelines require that the church endeavour to maintain the level of reserves held within the General Account at approximately 50% of the church's annual expenditure.

Details of any deficit

In 2022 the Unrestricted Funds i.e., the General Account, shows a surplus of £8939. The church has been fully open throughout 2022 with Fund-Raising activities taking place. Although we did not have a minister during 2022, we have continued to make our pledged payments to the URC Ministry & Mission Fund. However, this payment has been reduced from that of 2021 primarily because we are now once again in vacancy. Overall receipts in 2022 are higher than that of 2021, this is mainly due to the church now being fully open for services and activities. Because of this we have seen a slight increase in the Free Will Offering & Plate. Adding the HMRC Tax Repayment together with our fund raising and donations has led to the figure being substantially more than in 2021.

APPENDIX 1

Other optional information

Financial Review

In accordance with the current accounting regulations governing Scottish charities, the accounts are presented on a Receipts and Payments basis. The charity's Statement of Balances is enclosed with this document.

Salient features of the accounts: The church's main source of income is from the Freewill Offering and Plate (£17528). The church also benefits from the Inland Revenue Charity Repayment, which is made as a result of our claim for monies received as Gift Aid donations (£4002) and donations which this year totalled £6096.

Payments to Charity Trustees: During the year under review payments were made to the Revd Haydn H Higton.

Revd Haydn H Higton received a pulpit supply fee of £40 on ten occasions for leading worship.

Although the United Reformed Church Annan is now once again in vacancy, we continue to contribute to the United Reformed Church Ministry and Mission Fund which in 2022 totalled £10000 (2021 - £ 18,322)

Church Buildings and Manse: Having been advised by the National Synod of Scotland that as United Reformed Church Annan retained the Church Title Deeds at the time of Unification in 2000 then the church buildings & manse are owned by the local church and as such the Church Buildings & Manse are included as an asset on the Statement of Balances.

The local church is responsible for the maintenance of the buildings ensuring that they remain wind and watertight. Any structural or cosmetic changes to the buildings can only be carried out with the approval of the National Synod of Scotland.
