As can be expected, due to Covid restrictions the hall has been closed for a great deal of the last year. When it has been open regular bookings such as the square dancing on Monday and Wednesday mornings have not been able to take place.

Luckily Danny Watts was able to hold Gym classes in the hall for 3 months on and off, depending on lockdowns, and he is due to resume these, all being well from 17th May.

Sue Heron was also able to hold a two day clothes sale in the autumn and will be holding another one in June. Finances have been greatly helped by the Covid Government Grant received in the Summer of £10,000, some of which has been spent on two new storage heaters. These have been left on low throughout the winter to avoid any dampness in the hall. We have also had wifi installed by Jurassic Fibre, the first year of which has been at no charge.

Magazine Article June 2021 - recovering Judas!

I am not, now, a betting man, but if I were, I would offer you a hundred to one on this bet. I want you, in your heads to list the first (or Christian) names of all your acquaintances - up to say one hundred or so. Then group them together if they share the same name. My bet is that none of them will be called “Judas”. Most English-speaking Christians would probably not choose to use that name. The name itself is a Hellenised version of the Jewish “Judah”, coming from the Hebrew for “to praise”. So – do I owe you £100, or do you owe me a quid – only joking!

What happened to Judas? He killed himself, we know that, according to two different accounts in the Bible, but they disagree in the manner of his death. We assume because he couldn’t live with what he had done; but do we know that for sure? The gospel writers are clear (that is Luke in Acts and the author of John) that this was to fulfil Hebrew Scripture; but they would say that, of course.

But did he go to hell? And if he did; did he stay there? Since about the middle of the last century; there has been an attempt to re-evaluate Judas and his role. D.L.Sayers, and many others have followed, chose to make him a Zealot, like Simon the Zealot, who thought Jesus should have brought in his “kingdom” more quickly and effectively, presumably by force. This works well dramatically, but is it true? Probably not, but we don’t know – it’s as plausible as most other explanations.

In Holy Week, on Holy Saturday, the day before Easter Sunday, there is an Orthodox, and Catholic, tradition that Jesus went to hell and “harrowed” it; I have an icon which reflects this. Often Jesus is seen pulling Adam and Eve up out of hell. I like the idea of Jesus doing this with Judas, as one Catholic website suggested; but of course there is no Biblical source for this.

Whatever did happen to Judas, I think, in this modern age it is time to re-examine him and his role in the Passion of Christ; perhaps he just had to be there to do what he had to do. Maybe, just maybe, that might be a help when someone calls us a “Judas”, or even that we have betrayed them. Others have gone before us. And maybe, just maybe, Jesus redeemed Judas after death – who knows.

Before I get accused of heresy, I would like to close with quite a well-known, I think powerful poem, called the Judas Tree; I know nothing about the author – maybe a reader could tell me. Let’s not be too quick to condemn.

The Ballad of the Judas Tree

In Hell there grew a Judas Tree
Where Judas hanged and died
Because he could not bear to see
His master crucified.

Our Lord descended into Hell
And found his Judas there
For ever hanging on the tree
Grown from his own despair.

So Jesus cut his Judas down
And took him in his arms.
"It was for this I came," he said,
"And not to do you harm.

My Father gave me twelve good men
And all of them I kept,
Though one betrayed and one denied,
Some fled and others slept.

In three days' time I must return
To make the others glad,
But first I had to come to Hell
And share the death you had.

My tree will grow in place of yours.
Its roots lie here as well.
There is no final victory
Without this soul from Hell."

So when we all condemn him
As of every traitor worst,
Remember that, of all his men,
Our Lord forgave him first. Ruth Etchells
